

Attention

The following list contains all current Board of Barbering and Cosmetology (Board) approved schools. When choosing a school to attend, please consider the following:

- Investigate the school yourself before enrolling.

Prior to enrolling, interview students in the program and take a tour of the school. Ask if the school will let you sit in or observe the class or course that you are interested in before enrolling.

- Accreditation

Many of the top cosmetology, barbering, and electrology schools are accredited. Accredited schools are governed by the National Accrediting Commission for Career Arts & Sciences (NACCAS) and is recognized by the U.S. Department of Education as a national agency for the institutional accreditation of postsecondary schools. NACCAS clearly defines the rules and curriculum requirements for a school and sets industry standards that ensures that all the schools are of a high caliber. It is also important to note that students who apply to schools with accreditation may be eligible for federal financial aid for those who qualify; therefore, attending an accredited school could offer some benefit and reduce the costs associated with your education. However, please note the fact that a school is not accredited is not necessarily a sign that it is a “bad” school as it takes time to get accredited, and even the best schools must work toward that certification.

- Check reviews on the Internet.

Check the reviews on Yelp, Google, etc. and ask around.

- What is important to you?

Experienced Instructors, student to teacher ratios, how much hands-on experience, the school’s pass/fail rate, etc.

- How does the school keep track of technical instruction and practical operations?

Board regulations specify the minimum number of hours and operations students must complete to qualify for a Board examination. If the school does not have a system to track your training, that is a red flag.

- Is the course taught by instructor(s) or do students study mostly on their own?

Instruction must be given through demonstration, lecture, classroom participation, or examination.

A school should not just focus their instruction/training on being able to pass the State Board examination but should look beyond the examination and prepare you for a successful career in the beauty industry.
